

NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

APRIL SONG...For The Tribune.
BY G. GRAHAM.

The Spring is coming—it is!
The snow is melting away,
And birds which fled, as summer sped,
Have made green and gay.
Come again to their native plain,
To cheer us with their song,
And they sit upon the forest tree
And sing there all day long.
The Spring is coming—it is!
And flowers will soon be here,
With perfume rare to fill the air,
And bid our spirits "cheer;"
And the vernal grass will spring.
And the forest trees look gay.
The hills shall ring with songs we sing,
This merry April day.

The Spring is coming—it is!

Let every heart rejoice,
And let each tongue that ever sung
Chime in with Nature's voice,
Bid gloomy care and dark despair
And every ill away,

And seek relief from every grief
On Nature's holiday.
